SEWING MACHINE.

We would call attention to the following facts in connection with this Machine which renders it superior to any other in use:

It forms a flat elastic seam which will not rip in wear.

It is entirely noiseless.

A patented device prevents its being turned backward;

The needle cannot be set wrong;

Can be used successfully without other instructions than accompany the Machine;

It received the Gold Medal of the American Institute in 1863.

LETTER FROM (REBEL) GENERAL EWELL.—A gentleman of St. Paul (Minnesota) who was formerly a non commissioned officer in General (then Captain) Ewell's company of the regular army, wrote a friendly letter to his old commander some weeks since and received the following reply. It gives an explanation of the alleged motives and inducements which led Gen. Ewell to embrace the rebel cause:

FORT WARREN, June 13, 1865.

DEAR SIR: I was highly gratified at the receipt of yours of the 30th ultimo. Long experience has given me very different views in regard to the responsibilities of an officer from those with which I left West Point, where a few mathematical formulas, never used afterward, and abstruse branches of science, were dwelt upon, to the utter exclusion of the duties and responsibilities that were to occupy our lives. It is therefore highly gratifying that I have the testimony of one companion in arms that I made some friends among the soldiers—a portion of humanity where the treatment of the best is measured often by what the worst deserve, and whom it is easier to govern by the harshest rules than to take the trouble to discriminate between good and bad, and to make the profession easier when possible.

After the time of which you write my health suffered terribly for years, not much to the improvement of my temper, and I remember with regret much harsh language toward men who showed themselves better able to control themselves than I could control myself. However, I always tried to be just in the long run, and while the discipline and good behavior of my company was notorious, I hope I may say no man was made worse by service with me, and many of the boys discharged from my company became valuable and industrious citizens. I never heard of one turning out badly during many years in Mexico, and I learned that kindness gives a far more perfect control over the human, as well as the brute race, than harshness and cruelty.

That you may have as little as possible to be ashamed of serving with me, I will give you a short account of how I came into the Southern cause. I came from Arizona sick in the Spring of 1861. Staid in the country, in Virginia, my State, trying to get well, and found the war, to my bitter regret, was being started. All the highest United States army officers were resigning, except Lieutenant General Scott, and he published a letter that the United States would divide into four parts, thus showing that he thought all was over. A United States Senator said he would march a Northern regiment to help the South for every one sent against her. Nothing was done with either of these two men, or with others whose deeds were treasonable. A member of Congress from California made a public speech calling upon the South to resist the election of Lincoln.

Now I found myself forced to fight against brothers and all my nearest and dearest relatives—against my own State, when many abler men than myself contended she was right. By taking up the side of the South I forfeited a handsome position, fine pay, and the earnings of twenty years' hard service. All the pay I drew in four years from the South was not as much as one year's pay in the old army. The greatest political favoritism against me I ever had was from Davis after the Mexican war.

It is hard to account for my course, except from a painful sense of duty. I say painful, because I believe few were more devoted to the old country than myself; and my greatest objection I had to it was because of my predilection for a strong one. Now I see persons who did what they could to bring about the war, in high favor in the North holding high office. It was like death to me.

En route here from New Mexico, in 1861, I volunteered my services to fight the Texans through [illegible] United [illegible], and was careful to do nothing against the United States before resigning.

I have asked to be allowed to take the oath of allegiance and return to my home as a citizen. I see, though, that many persons, active in the first steps in bringing this war about, are at liberty, while I am here with no very good prospect of getting out; while my wife is under arrest in St. Louis, and has been since April, being to this time has utterly failed even to find out why she is arrested. Neither she or myself have the slightest idea of the cause of her arrest.

I have given you a long [illegible] about myself because of the friendly tone of your letter, and because I feel naturally drawn toward those with whom I have served. I remain, very respectfully, etc.,

R. S. EWELL

AN UNTIDY HOUSEWIFE.—A man whose first wife was remarkably neat married a slattern. On one occasion the mastered [illegible] to rub down the [illegible] table. Her good man sat quietly regarding her until she had done, when he burst into tears. She desired to know what had affected him in so unusual a manner. "The sight of that table," said he; "for I now recognized it as an old [illegible], and it awakens reminiscences of days that are gone, and it always looked thus when my first wife was living." It is unnecessary to say that the insulted lady bounced out of the room and declared as she slammed the door behind her, that she would make herself a slave to no man.

GOOD TIMES RETURNING IN MISSOURI.—The happy effect of peace in Jackson county is thus noted by the Messenger. Our town and county is full of strangers on the hunt for lands and town property. Many sales have been effected at prices that would have been thought fabulous one year ago. Old settlers that have been necessitated to leave their farms are returning to them and beginning to improve the wrecks. Trade is reviving, rents increasing, and everybody seemingly in good spirits and hopeful mood.—Missouri Republican, July 20th.

The London papers indicate by their comments on the arrest of John Mitchel that they are rather pleased with that act of "despotism" on the part of our Government than otherwise. It is said that some of the vile letters written from Richmond to the London Times were from the pen of Mitchel.

The examination of Ferdinand Patterson was commenced before Judge Kelly one day this week but was continued to August 28th, at which time Judge McBride will return from Boise City, and preside at the examination.—Idaho World

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

WEDNESDAY MORNING, AUGUST [illegible] 1865

Indian Affairs

The General Government is now at length taking measures ... for the adoption of [illegible] toward the Indians and a different [illegible] with them. The old system [illegible] ... results. Many ... possible ... the Indians ... [illegible] In the second ... it is not likely that anything can be done which will materially improve them in their habits and character or make them be better in any respect than they are now. But something must be done with them, and since the Government is necessitated to pay large sums of money for their support an attempt may as well be made to teach them some of the arts of civilization. They have yet to learn their first lesson in this (to them) very extensive course of education. The first thing that should be taught them is to work, and this is the lesson which is most repugnant to them. Unless they learn to work all efforts to improve them will be quite useless. Civilization is built upon and is sustained by labor. Therefore it must always be a futile undertaking to try to do anything for the Indian unless he be taught to work. If he can not learn this lesson, and experience seems to prove that he cannot, his race during the remainder of its existence will be as it has been in the past and will ere long perish entirely from the earth.

Hence some better method than any yet tried must be devised or men must cease talking about civilizing the Indians. To collect them in squads or large bodies on reservations and supply them with food, permitting them at the same time to lounge about in idleness will do them no good. By following this plan they are not taught the ways of civilized men but are encouraged in their old habit of indolence, which is the prime cause of their wretchedness. They should have lands separate and apart from the whites, and when provided with proper implements if they are not disposed to cultivate them, they should be compelled to do so. This may seem harsh treatment to those whose aversion to labor, hunger has rarely been able to overcome, but if no other course will do, this ought to be adopted. Children are often made to work, and thus acquire habits of industry, and certainly it will do no harm but much good to deal with these other thoughtless idlers in the same manner.

If the Indians are to be improved and educated, our language must be taught them. Hitherto, those who have gone among them have learned the spattering guttural sounds which the Indians make use of for the purpose of conveying their few ideas to one another. If the Indians cannot be taught the English language, they can be taught nothing. It is nonsense to expect to instruct them by using that abominable jargon of theirs. An Indian language cannot be found which contains any of the words that describe the moral qualities or sentiments. And this is the reason why the Indians know nothing about these things.

In the way of civilizing the Indians there are so many difficulties, most of them arising from the very composition of Indian character, that it may well be doubted whether any plan that can be hit upon will succeed. But as the Government has to spend money to support them, some experiments may as well be made. Even a little improvement in their condition will be better than none at all.

SECRETARY STANTON.—We rarely or never pick up a Copperhead paper that is not largely devoted to the vile work of heaping the most scurrilous abuse upon Mr Stanton. This minister is the immediate object of all their objurgations and anathemas. They do not choose to attack President Johnson and other members of the Government openly, because they have hitherto supposed that with fair treatment they might eventually succeed in "Tylerizing" the Administration—a consummation that would be prevented by their taking the opposite course. And as it is necessary for them to assail some one, in order to give vent to the exhalations which constantly arise from that mephitic pool of scurrility which their evil natures generate and foment within them, they open all their filthy batteries of vituperation upon Mr. Stanton, and over his vicarious shoulders apply the lash of party condemnation to the Administration of Mr. Johnson. Every measure which is particularly distasteful to the Copperheads, the Secretary of War is blamed for. Their malignancy manifests itself in low lampoons, furious denunciations, and the vilest, and often the absurdest falsehoods. From the number and enormity of the delinquencies and malefactions of which Mr. Stanton is continually accused an observer or stranger would be justified in believing him the chief officer of the Government and a merciless tyrant, ruling over our whole people with the unlimited power of an irresponsible despot. The grave accusations of his abuse of power would cause any one not acquainted with the habit which prevails here of using extravagant language, to suppose that Mr Stanton is a minister as powerful as Richelieu or Wolsey, as corrupt as Talleyrand, and as ferocious and sanguinary as Marat. We are told daily, that the President is going to dismiss him from his Cabinet, yet he retains him, and confides in him. We are informed that the President disapproves most of his official acts; yet he has never in any way evinced the slightest disapprobation of them. We should think that those who have labored so sedulously and unsuccessfully to show that Mr Johnson and Mr Stanton are at cross purposes, would by this time see that they are engaged in a bootless task. The Secretary of War is simply doing his duty and nothing has ever transpired to indicate that there is any other feeling than one of perfect amity between the President and himself.

For the most part as regards those who are so busy traducing him, their revilements are of no more consequence than their praises would be. To incur the displeasure of such as these and to be made the object of their maledictions is a certain proof of merit. Besides Mr Stanton has done no more than his duty, and the blame that is heaped upon him for pursuing this course is a source of honor rather than of real disgrace. [illegible] Such have always been my views, that I look upon ... incurred by the practice of virtue and the performance of duty, ... as the highest glory. Loyal men are satisfied with the official conduct of Mr Stanton and so long as he does his duty faithfully and well, they will not tamely suffer him to be treated with injustice by those whose disposition it is to malign every person who has distinguished himself in the service of his country.

Hon J M Ashley returned to this place from Salem on Monday evening. He starts this morning for Puget Sound. It is his purpose to proceed to Victoria and then by steamer to San Francisco. We had hoped to hear him deliver an address to our citizens on National topics before his departure, but his engagements were such that he could not do so.

THE CHOLERA.—A week ago it was announced that the cholera had appeared at Birmingham, England. Late advices make no mention of the epidemic there. The report was probably incorrect.

DATES TO AUGUST 26

Troops Mustered Out.

NEW YORK, Aug 20.—A Fortress Monroe correspondent says an order has just come directing 6,000 troops to be mustered out in this Department. Compliance with this order will reduce the troops here to 10,000 men.

Things in Texas.

CAIRO, Aug 20th.—The Committee appointed [illegible] Hamilton of Texas regarding ... civil government in the State ... arriving out their instructions. They were appointed by citizens representing nearly all Northern Texas who pledge themselves to abide by all lawful authority.

Guerrillas in Mississippi.

MEMPHIS, Aug 20th.—Some soldiers who left Jackson a few days ago to hunt up some horses that had been stolen were attacked by a large number of guerrillas. Driven back and obliged to abandon their horses. It is reported that three soldiers were killed.

Mississippi News—Emancipation Ordinance Passed.

NEW YORK, Aug 22.—The Times' Washington special correspondent says: The proceedings of the Mississippi State Convention are attracting much attention and comment here. The general feeling prevails that the Convention is doing all it can to keep the State out of the Union. The President, however, is known to have the highest confidence in Gov. Sharkey and believes his loyal, ... will give a proper direction to affairs.

NEW YORK, Aug 21.—The Herald's Jackson Mississippi correspondence dated August 21st says: The Constitutional Amendment has passed the Convention by a vote of 48 to 10. The institution of slavery having been destroyed in the State of Mississippi, neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, otherwise than for the punishment of crime, shall hereafter exist in the State. The Legislature at its next session as the public welfare may require shall provide by law for the protection and security of persons and property of the freedmen of the State, and guard them against any evil that may arise from their sudden emancipation.

JACKSON, Miss, Aug 21.—An ordinance passed the Convention yesterday designating the first Monday in October for the election of Congressmen, Legislators and State officers.

Trial of Capt. Wirtz.

WASHINGTON, Aug 21.—The Commission met to-day for the trial of Wirtz. Colonel Chapman read the order of the War Department dated yesterday, dissolving the former Commission but appointing another consisting of the same members. These were again sworn to day and Capt. Wirtz was arraigned.

A Buenos Ayres town named in honor of President Lincoln.

Information has been received by the Secretary of State from Buenos Ayres of the passage of a law by the Legislature of the Provincial Government authorizing the Governor to call the first town to be located in the province Lincoln, in commemoration of the late President of the United States.

The Rebel Leaders—Spain and the United States.

NEW YORK, August 24.—The Tribune's special dispatch says it is reported in well informed circles that the Government will hold for trial the leaders of the rebellion and pardon all others by proclamation.

The World's special dispatch says it is generally believed that the Government will oppose by diplomacy the aggressions of Spain against St. Domingo and perhaps use stronger measures.

Further from the Mississippi Convention.

NEW ORLEANS, August 23.—The Times' Jackson special says that an ordinance has passed ratifying all laws and official acts passed since secession, not repugnant to the Constitution of the United States and that of Mississippi prior to January 1861, except laws concerning crimes and acts enabling railroads to pay money borrowed by them.

NEW ORLEANS, August 24.—The Times' Jackson special says Gov. Sharkey received a dispatch from President Johnson congratulating the Convention on the progress making in paving the way to re-admission to the Union. All obstacles will soon be removed. Judge E. S. Fisher was nominated for Governor, and the Convention then adjourned sine die.

Politics in Pennsylvania.

HARRISBURG, Pa., August 24.—The Democratic State Convention to-day nominated General W. H. H. Davis for Governor.

Steamer Sunk in the Mississippi.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—New Orleans papers mention the sinking of the steamer Ida May, from Shreveport for New Orleans. The passengers were saved.

Minister Appointed to Denmark.

WASHINGTON, Aug 25.—Ex-Congressman Geo. H. Yeloan, of Kentucky, has been appointed Minister to Denmark.

Railroad Accident in Tennessee.

NASHVILLE, Aug 25.—A terrific accident occurred on the Tennessee and Alabama railroad to-day. The passenger train for Huntsville this morning, ran off the long trestle work near Reynolds station. The entire train was thrown off. Twelve persons were killed and 26 wounded.

Pardon Asked for Jeff. Davis.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug 25.—Dates from Jackson of the 24th says the ordinance proposing to submit the Constitutional Amendment to the people for ratification or rejection, was lost—5 to 44.

An eloquent appeal memorializing President Johnson to grant pardon in behalf of Jeff Davis and Charles Clark, late Governor of Mississippi, signed by over four thousand ladies and was read and approved. A resolution was adopted requesting the President of the Convention to forward the same to the President of the United States. The Convention gives their President the right to re-convene them when deemed necessary.

Generals Discharged from the Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug 24.—By General Orders from the Adjutant General's office, the following Major Generals are honorably discharged: Banks, Casey, Heintzelman, Butterfield, Doubleday, Peck and Hartsuff; also, 35 Brevet Major Generals and 47 Brigadiers.

Rebel Generals in Mexico.

NEW YORK, Aug 25.—Brownsville Texas dates to the 8th state that an ex rebel officer is stated that Sterling Price has been made a Major General of Maximilian's troops and was empowered to raise a cavalry force of 30,000 men from the disbanded rebel armies, also that several other rebel Generals have been commissioned by Maximilian, and it was intended to have a hundred thousand rebels in Max's service within a year to keep a watch on Sheridan on the Rio Grande. Everything is quiet on our side of the river. Our officers at Brownsville recently gave a banquet to the Emperor's officers together with Gen. Slaughter and several other ex rebels. The universal belief among Americans there is that they will be immediately ordered to march into Mexico.

It is reported that about a dozen deserters from the American army and navy have been engaged in piratical operations on the coast of [illegible]. Having murdered the crew of a small schooner they subsequently captured other vessels with it. They were last seen near Cuba. There is an English vessel in pursuit.

Items.

WASHINGTON, Aug 26.—The Postmaster General has made a contract for carrying the mails from Virginia City to Helena, Montana Territory, ... hundred and fifty miles, three times or (hence) per week.

The President has recognized A. H. [illegible] Consul of the Swiss Confederation at San Francisco for the States of California, Oregon, Nevada and Washington Territory.

Col. H. M. Evans has been appointed Chief Quartermaster of the Department of New Mexico.

Rebel Celebrities.

NEW YORK, August 25.—The Commercial's special says the President will probably order the release of Alexander H. Stephens. Ex-Governor [illegible] ... is in Washington on business connected with the reorganization of Georgia. [illegible] ... will avail himself of the provisions of the recent order to leave the country.

Ketchum the Defaulter, Arrested.

NEW YORK, August 26th.—Edward B. Ketchum was arrested yesterday afternoon at his house on East Twentieth street. He has not been out of the city. He had an interview with many of his friends and with his father, with the latter's ... was effected. He was also visited by his wife at the Station House. He has been about the city frequently during the past fortnight, but has avoided his former friends. He had about fifty thousand dollars when arrested. As yet no complaint has been made against Ketchum. ... [illegible] ... reach sixty cents on the dollar.

Rumored Official Changes in New York.

WASHINGTON, Aug 26.—A special to the Evening Post says Preston King is in town. It is predicted by certain leading politicians from New York that other changes are about to take place. A change is anticipated in the Surveyorship, ... being deferred the policy of the President.

More Rebel Dignitaries.

NEW YORK, Aug 26.—A Havana letter dated Aug 12th says Gens. Preston and Walker left on the steamer Eben for England, intending to go [illegible]

[illegible] Halifax ... [illegible] ... Washington ... Mexico ... [illegible] ... established and Maury ... geographical and Civil Engineer ... at the present with [illegible] an important branch of the public ... Gen. Edmund Kirby Smith ... communicate with his friend.

Orders Respecting Paroled Prisoners.

WASHINGTON, Aug [illegible] ... [illegible] ... Department of State ... of the [illegible] ... will however be issued ... that the applicants do not return to the United States with out the leave of the President. Other persons implicated in the rebellion who may wish to go abroad will apply to the Department of State for ... passports ... will be imposed according to the merits of the several cases. By the President of the United States.

(Signed) WM. H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

Collision on Chesapeake Bay.

BALTIMORE, August [illegible].—Last night at ... night the steamer ... from Baltimore for Norfolk with one hundred passengers ... heavy freight, collided ... with the propeller Sea Gull from New York for Baltimore. The former was cut down to the water's edge. The shifting of cargo lifted the injured part above water ... her passengers being transferred to the latter. The chief steward of the ... was lost overboard.

Pacific Railroad.

WASHINGTON, Aug 2[illegible].—Jesse H. Williams has resigned as Government Director of the Union Pacific railroad.

Foreign News.

NEW YORK, August 23.—The Persia from Liverpool, August 12th and Queenstown August 13th has arrived—nothing has been heard from the Great Eastern or her consort. There was nothing new regarding the cable. The latest tests confirm the report that the fault is about 1,200 miles out.

Arrived—steamer Oregon from Victoria.

Cleared—Aug. 29th, bark Almatia, Portland; Hamburg bark Malvina, Scott, Port Angeles; Aug. 28th steamer Sierra Nevada, Portland and Victoria.

Merchandise Market.—Butter, sales choice New York, at 3[illegible]c, do., good at 31c@35c. Coal Oil has advanced, with sales, assorted brands, at $1 30c; jobbing price had been advanced to $1 40c. Coffee, Central American, 22c. Raisins in demand, with sales of larger at 8c@9c. Sugar in brisk demand at full prices; sales, Bay Refinery, at 16c for Creole, and 13½c for Golden.

Buchanan and Democracy.—The old public functionary of Wheatland was invited to unite with the Democracy of Harrisburg in the celebration of the Fourth of July. He didn't go, but sent instead a letter which closes with the subjoined hopeful language: "I am gratified to observe that everywhere throughout the State the old Democratic party is renewing the energies of former years. It can never die while the Constitution and Union shall live. It will be a bright and glorious day for the people of the country—and this will surely come, though at my advanced age I may not live to see it—when the well tried and time honored principles of Democracy as expounded by Jefferson and Jackson shall regain the ascendency in the administration of the Federal Government." It is a very great pity that the O. P. F. didn't follow when in Washington, the principles of Democracy as expounded by Andrew Jackson in 1832.

The recent suppression of the Richmond Whig by the military authorities was caused by its intemperate and treasonable editorials, of which the subjoined extract from the salutatory of its new editor is a sample:

"I am equally opposed to the mean, brutal and cowardly policy of confiscation. The possession of property, whether little or much, is not a crime, nor is it recognized as such in any code, written or unwritten, of any nation, civilized or savage, on the face of the earth; and let not the first government of the world ever saw make itself the worst and most despicable by the adoption of a policy which seeks to determine or measure the guilt of an offender by the amount of his property."

The Union Party in California.—The late Union Convention of California had a very harmonious session. The party did not split into fragments as its opponents predicted and hoped. The Sacramento Union praises the action of the Convention and says:

It completed its work in a liberal, tolerant and thoroughly patriotic spirit and restored confidence in the ... of ... organization ... which California ... for ... and unsullied allegiance during the stormy night through which the republic has passed.

Charles ... afternoon it was that he ... in the morning. Probably Lord Russell ... the last to insert the Confederate navy ... that he was the first to recognize it.

False Delicacy.—The friends of those who are troubled with bad breath and the right ... unpleasant dislike to ... a positive and cruel mistake, especially if they were aware of the merits and great efficacy of the Fragrant Sozodont. This is the true and only remedy for the difficulty; there is no valid excuse for a bad breath now.

NewspaperARCHIVE®

Re-Visited

BY JOHN G. WHITTIER.

Read at "The Laurels," on the Merrimac, June 1865.

The roll of drums and the bugle's wailing
Vex the air of our vales no more;
The spear is beaten to hooks of pruning,
The share is the sword the soldier wore!

Sing soft, sing low, our lowland river,
Under thy banks of laurel bloom;
Softly and sweet, as the hour beseemeth,
Sing us the songs of peace and home.

Let all the tenderer voices of nature
Temper the triumph, and chasten mirth,
Full of the infinite love and pity
For fallen martyr and darkened hearth.

But to him who gives us beauty for ashes,
And the oil of joy for mourning long,
Let thy hills give thanks, and all thy waters
Break into jubilant waves of song!

Bring us the airs of hills and forests,
The sweet aroma of birch and pine,
Give us a waft of the north wind laden
With sweetbrier odors and breath of kine.

Bring us the purple of mountain sunsets,
Shadows of clouds that rake the hills,
The green repose of thy Plymouth meadows,
The gleam and ripple of Campton rills.

Lead us away in shadow and sunshine,
Slaves of fancy, through all thy miles,
The winding ways of Pemigewasset,
And Winnipesaukee's hundred isles.

Shatter in sunshine over thy ledges,
Laugh in thy plunges from fall to fall;
Play with thy fringes of elms, and darken
Under the shade of the mountain wall.

The cradle-song of thy hill-side fountains
Here in thy glory and strength repeat;
Give us a taste of thy upland music,
Show us the dance of thy silver feet.

Into thy dutiful life of uses
Pour the music and weave the flowers;
Let the song of birds and the bloom of meadows
Lighten and gladden thy heart and ours.

Sing on! bring down, O lowland river,
The joy of the hills to the waiting sea;
The wealth of the vales, the pomp of mountains,
The breath of the woodlands bear with thee.

Here is the calm of thy seaward valley,
Mirth and labor shall hold their truce;
Dance of water and mill of grinding,
Both are beauty and both are use.

Type of the North land's strength and glory,
Pride and hope of our home and race—
Freedom lending to rugged labor
Tints of beauty and lines of grace.

Once again, O beautiful river,
Hear our greetings and take our thanks;
Hither we come as Eastern pilgrims
Throng to the Jordan's sacred banks.

For though by the Master's feet untrodden,
Though never his word has stilled thy waves,
Well for us may thy shores be holy,
With Christian altars and saintly graves.

And well may we own thy hint and token
Of fairer valleys and streams than these,
Where the rivers of God are full of water,
And full of sap are his healing trees.

Love and Blood—The Harris-Burroughs Trial. The Whole Story.

[From the Cincinnati Times.]

The trial of a young woman in the capital of the country for shooting her lover, contains many points of interest. It is not the old story, old story of love and seduction. It is a case, though a somewhat aggravated case we admit, of modern flirtation. Many years, away out West, there was a little Irish girl, Mary Harris by name. She was pretty, black-eyed and roguish. She was poor. Her parents were dead, and she lived with some relatives, who treated her kindly, and gave her such advantages as they were able. Presently she met a young man who took a fancy to her fresh morning face and short dresses, and ingratiated himself into the good opinion of the old people, and visited her often, as a young man of two or three and twenty might visit a child of twelve. He called her his rosebud and playmate, and his puss-in-boots, we dare say. They took long walks together, and sat by the river-side, whole days, and read fairy tales. And so they parted for a time.

But our little Irish girl is poor and is growing to womanhood, and has to do something for a living. She is sent, therefore, to a neighboring village and becomes a salesmaid for a jolly old shopkeeper, who, after a while is very fond of her, for she is young, honest and handsome. One day she gets a letter. The young man with the brown mustache has not forgotten her, and wants still to be her dear, dear friend. And indeed he is that, for this bright, hearty Irish girl has a warm heart of her own, and is grateful and constant. So she writes him a ready answer, not very well spelled, perhaps, but cherry and robust, like herself. She is sixteen; he is approaching thirty—a fair contrast. He has an education and an air about him; she has no education to speak of, but keen appreciation and ambition. They write each other a great many letters—all after the usual style—first friendship—next avowal—finally love. This must have been a very sad case of love, too, for, as the little girl progresses with her onward march to womanhood, the lithe and buoyant spirit deepens into sentiment and gradually becomes intense. She loves her lover to distraction, and they meet once more, and she is his darling little Mollie.

At this time Mary Harris must have been what the young gentleman called a killing, little fascinator. She was just past seventeen—a tidy waist, a trim figure, a swan-like neck, a comely face, not too tall, luxuriant hair, and naivette. All the larks around town were half mad about her. She wore a bit of a gray cloak and a gipsey hat. But she cared not a fig for the whole of them. She was wrapped up in her old bachelor, as she called him, and would follow him to the end of the world. She said so, at least, and he believed her, and began to practice upon her love and trust. But Irish virtue is an article of stubborn quality, and often defies the fiercest passion. In this case, at any rate, it did so. The lover, failing to carry his point, gradually grew tired of his little Mollie, after a flirtation of five or six years. Men very often, too often, we fear, weary of their little Mollies through such a long siege of love, and if they have no mind to make them their little wives, and are not able to make them anything else, are quite ready to give them over. The old bachelor, now getting into his thirties, was tired; he wanted to marry somebody else; he did not want to marry his little Mollie, so he gave her over. Yes, he gave her over, gradually, however, by neglect and absence, and finally married another woman, and went to Washington to hold an office under the Government.

What must have been the feelings of this little Irish girl, with her warm heart, her active spirit, her keen sensibilities, her ardent love, to find herself cast off, like a worn-out garment, after five years of constancy and devotion? Love is a cruel passion. It is bitter-sweet. It has its dark lines at best, and to this persecuted, abandoned girl they must have been hideously dark, for she took to brooding, and grew wan and pale, and suffered, and was not herself any more. It was thus that she resolved in her bitterness and wrath, in her misery and inanition that she would follow him and kill him. Kill him! yes, for had he not killed love and life in her? Had he not married another woman, and how can you offend a woman who loves you, more mortally than by marrying some one else.

She went to Washington. She sought the department in which he was employed. It was a dull, cold January afternoon. The janitor at the door showed her up a flight of stone steps, and through the long hall, and pointed her out the very room, unconscious as a Government janitor must have been, of her bloody purpose. Just as she reached the door she meets her victim coming out with a friend. He sees her, and no doubt a prophetic light flashes within him, for he exclaims, "My God!" Two reports—sharp, ringing pistol-shots echoing and re-echoing throughout those vast corridors and columns—follow in quick succession, and the false lover lies a dead man upon the gray matting of the floor.

The deed is done. The deception of years is expiated. The revenge of months of wild and lonely meditation is complete. Alas, poor, frail humanity! Little rosebud has done it. Little Mollie is a murderer. O, roguish eyes of blue? O, pink and peachen cheek! O, hood and wimple, and short frocks and pantalettes! Never any more peace, never any more innocence, never any more calm, sweet sleep. Boots it to you, now that he is dead, that he was the husband of another woman, that he wronged you and deserted you?

"Vows of unheard of and endless devotion,
How they have faded away."

So goes the mill. A little puff of smoke. A little scent of powder. A few drops of blood. And the little Irish girl is down stairs sobbing, without shedding a tear, and crying "My God, why did I do it?" The great Secretary comes, host of the nation's treasure. She clings to him, and kneel before him, and he, too asks her why she did it? She knows no reason, except that "she loved him so much." There it is. It was not hate, but love. She loved him so much that she would rather he were dead than that another woman should have him. A woman to the last! Who would have her otherwise?

They took her to jail. They lodged her in a dungeon. And there she has lain ever since! Most of this time she has been ill, and when she has not been ill she has been depressed, sullen, and silent. They have brought her out to try her for her life, and the court is crowded daily with eager spectators. It is the little Irish girl no longer. All the bloom has gone. The fire has faded from the roguish eyes. The cheek is pallid and sunken. She does not care to live, but they will not let her die. They will set her at liberty, and she will live a broken hearted woman, or perish in a mad-house, for they say she is mad already.

Poor little rosebud! Poor little Mollie! Poor little puss in boots!

THE OREGON FARMER.

The Fruit growing, hitherto, has been usually a profitable branch of farming in Oregon. No country in the world produces better apples, pears, plums and cherries, than Oregon. Peaches are only fair in Northern Oregon. South of Salem in the Willamette valley, in Umpqua valley and Rogue River valley, they are exceedingly abundant, large, beautiful and luscious. Apricots produce well even as far north as Vancouver in Washington Territory. Some varieties of the American grape succeed tolerably well in Northern Oregon; and what is singular, while European grapes entirely fail with out door culture in the Eastern States, in Oregon they have been found to succeed well. Many varieties of French grapes produce abundantly in a vineyard near Butteville, and in their season are found in the Portland and other markets. Our present object is to ask our farmers to bring of their fruits liberally to the Fair. We want to see a display that will do honor to Oregon. No State in the Union can make as fine an exhibition as ours. Let us have our Hall tables filled, as they were filled at the first Fair of the Society.

The premiums offered in the fruit department are fair. We suggest that our farmers do not confine themselves to the number of specimens asked for. We want a grand show of fruit.

JEFF. DAVIS AND COMPANY.—Jeff. Davis continues his life of "inglorious ease" at Fortress Monroe. The information which is published concerning his health from time to time is very conflicting. The last account was that he was in better health than he had before been for months. Now we are informed that he is declining rapidly, and will probably die six weeks from date, unless he heeds Dombey's advice, and "makes an effort." At present he mopes all day long, neglecting to take the exercise he is at liberty to take, in a space 20 by 20 feet which is allowed him. On Sunday last he asked for a chaplain, and Rev. Mr. Kerfoot paid him a visit. Davis was very humble, and as pious as one of his God-bless-me proclamations during the war. He reads his Bible more than he used to, and it is to be hoped he gets some "late news" out of it. He don't like it so well, however, but that he clamors for something else to read. But prison discipline thinks he had better read the Bible during all the "leisure" he gets. Jeff. wears goggles pretty much all the time in his cell, and his eyes are getting very weak—one of them, it is stated, is so bad that he can't see out of it at all; but as the same authority states that he complains of blurred sight and "seeing double," it would seem as if two eyes were superfluous. Davis gets up early in the morning—very soon after daybreak—and bathes himself carefully in a tub of salt water and a basin of fresh. He protects his modesty by erecting a screen out of an army blanket, so that his guard can't feed their vision on the beauty of his figure. Then he puts on his clothes, then he combs his hair and reads his Bible. At 8½ he has his breakfast—a good meal from Dr. Craven's table, tea, toast, an egg or two, or broiled steak; those are the things the guard brings him. Sometimes his appetite is good; sometimes it is not. After breakfast he mopes and looks out of the window till 3½ o'clock, his dinner hour. He don't smoke much; it don't agree with his nerves. After dinner he mopes until supper time, 8½ o'clock. After supper he goes to bed. His sleep is pretty good, though he don't fancy the light burning all night in his "chamber." During the day, or some days, he receives a call from General Miles, the officer of the guard, the minister or the doctor; and then he talks all he can—about his trial, prospects of getting off, etc. A correspondent thinks that the death of the assassination conspirators has been communicated to him, which accounts for his low spirits.

A letter from Fortress Monroe to the Philadelphia Inquirer, states that:

John Mitchel has varied his barefooted tramps up and down his casemate, by requesting that a Bible and prayer book might be furnished him. These two books were offered Mitchel on the first day of his incarceration, but he then refused to have them in his casemate. Now he asks for them. He has certainly come to a proper knowledge of his literary wants at last. The desired books were furnished him. They are the only reading matter the ex-editor of Jeff.'s organ gets.

Clem. Clay is still allowed his daily morning walks in the open air, through the grounds of the fort. Clay's health absolutely requires this indulgence. He is allowed one hour every morning for his promenades. He also takes more exercise in his casemate than he formerly did.

TERRIFIC TORNADO.—An exchange is responsible for the following:

The late tornado in Minnesota kicked up some queer pranks. It blew eight oxen over the river eight hundred yards wide. It took all the water out of a pond, carried it a mile, and then let it down on Mayor Duran's farm in the shape of a small lake. It blew a man's boots off. Another man's coat was not only blown short, but actually buttoned from top to top. One old lady went up like a balloon, was carried two miles and a half, and was finally landed astride a telegraph wire, where she was found by her grandson and relieved by a ladder. Judge Morgan says the wind not only carried off his dwelling-house, but his subcellar and two wells. Some tornado that.

Caution to Water-Mill Owners.

WHEREAS, A JEW, BY THE NAME OF J. HEXTER, living five miles east of Vancouver, Washington Territory, is offering for sale one of JAMES LEFFEL'S AMERICAN DOUBLE TURBINE WATER WHEELS, which he, through intrigue and misrepresentations has purchased of the Manufactory in Ohio, said Wheel cannot be used or sold in this country, as I own the exclusive right to manufacture use and sell in the Territory of the United States west of the Rocky Mountains. Therefore, whoever purchases said Wheel buys a law suit. I shall avail myself of the privilege and security of the law for the wrong purchasing of the aforesaid Hexter.

Ordinance No. 232.

AN ORDINANCE to prevent Horses or Cattle from running at large within the limits of the City of Portland between certain hours.

The City of Portland does ordain as follows:

Section 1. That no horses or cattle shall be allowed to run at large within the limits of the City of Portland after the hour of nine (9) o'clock P. M. and before the hour of six (6) o'clock A. M. of each day during the months of April, May, June, July, August and September of each year; and after the hour of six o'clock P. M. and before the hour of seven (7) o'clock A. M. of each day during the months of October, November, December, January, February and March of each year.

Sec. 2. It shall be the duty of the City Marshal to take up any such animals running at large within the limits of the City of Portland at the time forbidden in the foregoing section, and to confine and keep it or them in a Pound or Inclosure, and to provide any such animal or animals with proper care and food while so confined.

Sec. 3. The City Marshal shall immediately give notice of the taking up of any such animal or animals, with a description thereof, by posting the same in some conspicuous place at the Postoffice in the city and upon the Pound or Inclosure where such animal or animals are confined.

Sec. 4. If before the expiration of five days from the giving of such notice, or before the selling of any such animals, as hereinafter provided, the owner of any such animal or animals, or his legal representatives, shall claim the same and pay all legal costs, charges and expenses for taking up and keeping, the Marshal shall deliver up such animal or animals to such owner or his representatives.

Sec. 5. If any such animal or animals shall not be claimed before the expiration of five days from the giving of such notice, the Marshal shall proceed to sell the same at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, having first given notice of the time and place of such sale in a daily newspaper published in the City for at least forty-eight hours prior to the time of sale; and after deducting his legal fees and all costs, charges and expenses of taking up, keeping and selling, shall pay the proceeds into the City Treasury.

Sec. 6. The City Marshal, besides the cost of keeping any such animal or animals shall be entitled to and receive as his legal fees, two dollars per head for all animals so taken up, and ten per cent. of the proceeds of all sales when the amount shall not exceed twenty-five dollars, and five per cent. when the amount of such proceeds shall exceed such sum.

Sec. 7. If the owner of any property so sold or his legal representatives shall at any time within one year from such sale make satisfactory proof of his ownership, he or they shall be entitled to receive such proceeds so deposited in the Treasury.

Sec. 8. That Ordinance number 209, passed June 7th, 1865, entitled "An Ordinance to prevent certain animals from running at large in the City of Portland" be and the same is hereby repealed.

Sec. 9. This Ordinance shall be in force and take effect from and after its approval by the Mayor.

"CONSTITUTION WATER,"

THE ONLY REMEDY FOR DISEASES OF THE

BLADDER, KIDNEYS,

Gravel, Dropsical Swellings,

GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC.

THE ASTONISHING SUCCESS WHICH HAS ATtended this invaluable medicine proves it the most valuable one ever discovered. No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the debilitated and shattered system. In fact, it stands unrivalled as a remedy for the permanent cure of the maladies above-mentioned, and also—

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY,
LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION,
INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,
GLEET, FLUOR ALBUS,

And in every disease any way connected with the disorder or decay of the Procreative Functions. Persons about to marry, if conscious of any weakness, should take the

CONSTITUTION WATER,

Whether broken down by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once relieved, revivified and built up. Well may this celebrated medicine be called the

MEDICAL WONDER.

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man; he stands erect, he moves with a firm step; his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom of an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active; and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor.— The medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its normal condition.

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER,
INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS, AND
CATARRH OF THE BLADDER,
STRANGUARY AND BURNING, OR PAINFUL
URINATING,
CALCULUS, GRAVEL,
BRICK DUST DEPOSIT, AND MUCOUS
OR MILKY DISCHARGES AFTER URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. TRY IT in these cases, and you will ever give praise to

CONSTITUTION WATER.

Males or Females,

Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back, and through your hips? CONSTITUTION WATER will relieve you like magic.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION! IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.
